WATERS RECEEDING IN WESTERN PART

Damage Expected at Confluence of Arkansas and South Canadian.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 9.—Reports received here early today by the U. S. Weather Bureau indicated that the South Canadian river is falling in the western part of the state and rising in the eastern part, the crest of the flood having passed the central part of the state. It is estimated that the crest will reach the junction point of the Canadian and Arkansas rivers late today.

Whether serious flood conditions will result there is not known here, since the stage of the Arkansas river is not reported here. It is said that back water will probably inundate the lowlands. The records of the Arkansas river in Oklahoma are compiled at Ft. Smith, Ark.

A general rain over the entire state is reported.

The weather bureau officials say that a rise of two to three feet in the North Canadian is probable in the next four or five days as a result of a new rise in Western Kansas. No danger from the North Canadian flood is expected, however.

The Daily Oklahoman Club Will Play Game With Locals Sunday

Another amateur baseball team of Oklahoma City will be in the city Sunday to take on the local club for what promises to be an interesting game. The visitors will be the Daily Oklahoman team, who have been playing many amateur clubs over the state, winning a great percentage of the games. After having defeated the champion team of the Oklahoma City league, the locals feel confident of holding this team to a tight game.

The printers of the Daily Oklahoman will be making their first appearance in the city Sunday. The game will be called at 2 o'clock on account of the Oklahoma City club having to make train connections. The Fair Grounds Park is to be put in a first class condition for the game.

"Lefty" Williams will start the game for Ada with Cover behind the bat. Waner will play outfield until called on to help Williams. Manager Sparks stated today that he would have his regular team for the Sunday game, although two of his best men were unable to play when the Brown's Indians were here.

Business Men Close Stores in Stonewall to Work on Highway

That citizens of Stonewall and Tupelo are deeply interested in good roads was evidenced by their efforts in doing their part of the work on the Coal county highway, connecting Coalgate and Stonewall and Tupelo. It is reported that a five mile stretch of this highway has never been completed, making it almost impossible to cross in cars.

The three miles in Pentotoc county is being worked and put in a first class condition by the business men of Stonewall. Every Wednesday is donated to the working of the road at which time more than a hundred men, many teams, a tractor and grader are used. These business men are donating one day each week for the building of the road and expect to have it completed in a few weeks.

The business men of Tupelo are doing like wise and will have their two mile stretch completed in a short time. This will make a good hard surfaced road from Stonewall to Coalgate according to W. J. Allen, who was at Stonewall last week when the business men started work.

80 SHAWNEE MEN SLIP INTO TOWN

Twenty Autos Filled With Business Boosters on Tour of Territory.

Eighty live boosters from Shawnee slipped into Ada this afternoon at 1:30 and proceeded to let the city know they were here. They did not announce their coming in advance, and were, therefore, not expecting a public reception. The Chamber of Commerce got many of the live boosters of Ada together and the business men of the two places mingled in good natured fellowship for two hours.

The Shawnee crowd left home early Wednesday morning and made Asher, Byars, Wanett, Wynnewood, Sulphur, Stratford, Roff, Fitzhugh and then came to Ada. They expect to return home either tonight or some time tomorrow.

They report that they encountered mud on the entire journey. When they crossed the South Canadian bridge at Asher, they stood for a few minutes and watched the river rise twelve inches.

The Shawnee men expressed the highest praise for the wonder city of Ada. They want to co-operate with Ada in doing great things, according to those here.

The News was not able to get all the names of the party, but below is found a list of those whose names could be procured:

Charley Hawk, auto supplies; Owen Marmaduke, druggist; Josh Reeves, department store; W. I. Johnson, produce; Fred Carey, insurance; Bob Robinson, pool and billiards; E. Success of Pure Food Show Continues All Week With no Let Up

Large crowds were again in attendance at the Pure Food Show Wednesday afternoon and evening and the affair is turning out to be a huge success. Souvenirs were given last evening, refreshments were served at the various booths and music was furnished for all.

The ladies of the First Christian church are highly pleased with the great success of their undertaking and are very thankful for the hearty co-operation of both business men and the public in helping them. Another show was given this afternoon and one will be given tonight. The closing show will be Saturday night, which promises to be the best of them all.

Two Masked Men Take Four Thousand From State Bank at Byars

Two masked men entered the Byars State Bank at Byars Wednesday afternoon about 1 o'clock, forced the clerks and bank officials to "put 'em up" and proceeded to take all the cash in sight, which amounted to about $4,100, and made their getaway in a Ford car leaving the city in an easterly direction. About three miles from the city the car went dead and was abandoned, according to information given out by the sheriff's office.

A posse was immediately started in pursuit of the robbers, but when they found the car there was no trace of the men. It is believed that the men had an accomplice waiting for them at this place with another car and that the abandoned Ford was only a ruse to throw the officers off their track.

No trace has been reported as to the whereabouts of the men, but when last seen they were coming in the direction of Ada. The local officers have noticed no suspicious looking men and it is believed the robbers turned in another direction after abandoning the Ford.

American Legion Head Dies When Automobile Goes Over Embankment

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 9.—F. W. Gailbraith, national commander of the American Legion, was instantly killed and two other men seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding went over a twenty-foot embankment here early this morning.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9.—Mr. Gailbraith, head of the national American Legion, Henry Ryan, Mr. Sutlisse, and Mr. Foreman were concerned in a car accident here today. The men were returning from the Country Club in a car. The car failed to make a slight turn in the road and ran over the curbing across the sidewalk, turning over several times. The men were thrown clear of the car.

Mr. Gailbraith's skull was fractured and he died on the way to the hospital.

Ryan, who was driving, declared that he believed there was a defect in the steering wheel.

Coroner Robinson, who made an investigation immediately after the accident, said that the examination showed a broken connection in the steering wheel.

The three men were going to the Union Station from the Country Club, according to Mr. Ryan, when, Mr. Gailbraith stopped to take up Will Sutlisse.

Mr. Sutlisse and Foreman were returning there after attending the meeting of the national committee o fthe American Legion. Mr. Gailbraith was intending to start on a speaking tour in behalf of legislation now before congress fostered by the Legion.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 9.—Col. Gailbraith, Jr., was elected National Commander of the American Legion September 9 of last year. He served in his first command at Camp Sherman during the war. He was subsequently transferred to the 147th infantry and embarked for overseas in June, 1918. He lead his regiment through the German lines under fire and received the name, "The fighting colonel of the fighting first."

As head of the Legion he had been active in fostering legislation favorable to the ex-service men. His public addresses were marked with forceful utterances against all measures neglecting wounded soldiers and in defense of legislation when relating to their aid.

In civilian lige Gailbraith was president of the Western Paper Goods company of Cincinnati. He was republican but was never active in politics and was never considered for public office. In Cincinnati he was active in civilian movements for more than twenty years.

ATTORNEY GENERAL NOT HELPING, CHARGE

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 9.—Attorney Untermeyer, who is in charge of the legislative commission which is investigating trusts, announced today that he would write the attorney-general to ask if the department could not spare more men and money to prosecute violators of the interstate trust laws.

Mr. Utermeyer declared that the commission had received no co-operation, although it had produced to the department evidence of more than twenty illegal nationwide combines of manufacturers and dealers. He added that he was not criticising the present federal authorities.

At the same time Mr. Untermeyer received from the commission a request to instruct superintendent Phillips to make a special investigation of the Prudential Insurance Company, to bear particularly upon the private holdings of J. C. Dryden, president, and "seeming mutualization of the company."

NO TREATY BEFORE AMERICAN RECOGNITION

(By the Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—Recognition of the administration of President Obregon by the U. S. must precede treaty making between the two nations, and, although Obregon desires to sign the treaty mentioned in the recent American memorandum, he cannot do so except after recognition of the Mexican government, according to a statement printed by all the newspapers of Mexico City this morning. They apparently received the information from the same unnamed source as the contents of the American memorandum.

Out at Great Bend
(By the Associated Press)

GREAT BEND, Kan., June 9.—The Arkansas river is spread far beyond its banks today. Much damage is reported and will probably put out of commission some of the mines near here. The water has risen eight inches since last night. South of the Santa Fe tracks families are moving. Thousands of acres in the lowlands are under water.

Rising at Wichita
(By the Associated Press)

WICHITA, Kansas, June 9.—The Arkansas river is reported rising slowly this morning but there was no flood damage done. The weather bureau announced that high water rushing down the river would reach here late today or tomorrow morning, but persists that there would be overflow only in the low section of the city along the stream.

The residents, warned to anticipate the flood, were removing to higher ground.

WATER SWEEPS AWAY BRIDGES

Katy Bridge at Tyrola and Low Water Bridge at Byng Go Out.

The M., K. & T. bridge over the South Canadian river at Tyrola went out last evening, according to the road officials here. Trains are now detouring over the Rock Island from Shawnee to Holdenville and the Frisco from Holdenville to Ada. It is reported that twenty-five sections of the bridge went out.

The big rise struck Tyrola country late Wednesday and the river reached its crest this morning around 4 o'clock. It is said to be slowly receding today.

Information from the Frisco is that the bridge between Francis and Sasakwa is holding. So far as the News was able to learn, no other bridge than the Katy has gone out.

Reports in various sections early today were that another and larger rise was expected on the river sometime today. Attempts of the News to verify these reports were futile. According to all information available, the crest of the flood has passed and little other danger is to be expected.

Twenty-five panels of the Katy bridge have gone down stream, officials of the road say. Ten other panels will probably go out, as they are sagging and seemingly have little to support them. The entire bridge left, according to eye witnesses, reminds one of a corkscrew. Most of the damage was on the east side of the river, the trestle being damaged more than the bridge across the main channel.

Ten Days to Rebuild.

Two crews are to reach here today and begin work at once on rebuilding the bridge. Officials of the road say it will be at least ten days before traffic can be resumed over the road, detouring for that time being necessary. With fair conditions, traffic over the bridge ought to be resumed not later than ten days. It is pointed out that if another rise comes, work cannot start and the resumption of traffic will be later.

The peak of the rise saw the water in a few feet of the rails, being from twelve to twenty feet deep in the river bed. At places it was out of the banks.

Low Water Bridge Crumbles.

FRANCIS, June 9.—(Special)—The ferry boat of the Francis Ferry Company and the entire low water bridge across the South Canadian river northeast of Francis were swept away late Wednesday evening, according to reports of eye witnesses. The rise in the river was one of the greatest ever known, a wall of water approximately five feet high rolling down the wide expanse of sand.

The first rise struck the bridge around 3 o'clock. The ferry boat, fastened by two strong cable and two one-inch ropes, went down stream, the weight of the water snapping the fastenings as though they were mere threads. A few hours later, the reinforced cement bridge crushed like an egg-shell and was swept down with the rushing waters. Observers say they believe the entire bridge is gone, but there is no way to prove or disprove these beliefs.

Officials of the Francis Ferry Company say they have no information to give out about the rebuilding of the ferry boat. Action will depend upon amount of the cement bridge left. If not more than a few panels of the bridge have been destroyed, the ferry will be put in operation. Of course, if most of the bridge is gone, it may not be practical to resume operations.

Byng Bridge Uncertain

Information from Byng is that the water is several feet over the low water bridge and it is impossible to determine what damage has been done. Those who have watched the water report that they believed another section has gone out. Until the water goes down, however, there is no way to estimate the damage, if there is any.

All attempts to get information on the new wagon Asher bridge were unsuccessful. Telephone communication with Asher could not be obtained.

June Brides at This Time Are Fewer Than They Were Last Year

June brides in this city and county are not as numerous as they were at this time last year. The marriage license department shows a considerable decrease in the number of licenses issued this month for the first 8 days as compared with the first 8 days of June, 1920.

An average of one license each day is reported, and it is expected that this average will be increased before the end of the month. Half of the licenses issued were to couples from Ada.

Tonight and Friday partly cloudy and unsettled.

FORTUNE SEEKERS TO INVADE NORTH

Waiting for June Thaws to Open the Way for Navigation.

(By the Associated Press)

EDMONTON, Alta., June 9.—Fortune seekers from all parts of Canada and various parts of the United States are gathering for their dash into the far north oil and mineral fields when navigation opens about the middle of June.

Edmonton, Fort McMurray and Peace River Crossing, the latter two gateways into the Mackenzie river basin oil fields, are showing signs of great activity with large fleets of river steamers and gasoline boats getting ready for the short summer transportation season.

Edmonton railroad yards are jamming through freight for northern points and both Fort McMurray and Peace River Crossing are experiencing unprecedented prosperity and bustle, all coming from the first wave of the oil boom.

The little town of Fort McMurray has already doubled its population since last fall and with the opening of navigation it is expected to reach four times its previous size. Many new buildings are being erected, while along the banks of the river boats, scows, and lumber craft are being constructed.

Peace River Crossing is garnering its share of the rush. This town is the temporary headquarters of the government parties going into the north country this year in addition to oil prospectors. Ten government parties are getting ready at Peace River or have already taken the field from this point, including four topographical, three geological and one astronomical survey parties.

Another government party will make an exhaustive report of the possibilities of the new oil fields.

River men say that they will be able to handle all freight offered for northern points, recent heavy rains having filled all northern streams and solved the problem of low water which threatened to tie up migration to the Mackenzie fields.

In the meantime the activity at Fort McMurray and Peace River Crossing is growing in intensity daily. Every train to the north is crowded and travelers from both points say that accommodations are at a premium. One party leaving here for Fort McMurray took along their own bedding and shelter tents, reports being that they would be unable to obtain them on arrival. River craft are taking the water daily at both these points.

That dominion authorities anticipate some difficulty with parties of "chechakoes" or newcomers, in the country is evident, from the stringent regulations governing entry into the new lands.

At all police points manned by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, oil seekers and others are compelled to show their entry permits. These permits are not issued unless the applicants satisfy the police patrols ,composed of hardened "mushers" and "sour-doughs" that they are physically capable of enduring hardships, are properly equipped for the long journey, and are assured of being able to return to civilization at the end of the season's work. Failing in this they must show that they have a grub stake sufficient for a full 12 months or that they have the necessary orders on the trading posts already established to carry them through for a year's supply of food.

Thus far few of those applying for permits have been refused by police officials.

Later on, when the real rush begins, police officials say, considerable weeding out will have to be done.

The 16-mile portage between Fort Fitzgerald and Fort Smith is expected to show considerable congestion when the rush starts, old timers say, notwithstanding the presence of 50 teams and several powerful tractors which have been sent to this strip of land to cope with the influx.

The two natural routes leading to the Fort Norman fields are via Peace River Crossing and Fort McMurray. There are two other routes however, which would land the travelers in the new fields from six weeks to two months earlier than by either the Peace or McMurray lines, but both these routes call for long portages and considerable outfit.

1921 Wheat Crop in Kansas Shows Huge Drop in One Month

(By the Associated Press)

TOPEKA, Kan., June 9.—The 1921 Kansas wheat crop of 107,773,000 bushels was the June crop report issued today by Mr. Paxton, Kansas statistician for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is 33,000,000 less than the May estimate, and is the greatest May to June drop in many years according to Paxton.

ADA'S OPPORTUNITY

That an oil field is to be developed iorthwest of Ada, as well as in other directions, seems no longer doubtful. Whether the northwest field will be developed near Bebee, near Maxwell or near Galey is not so much a matter of importance as is the fact that the field will be developed. The oil men seem universally to agree than an oil structure is in the northwest part of the county, and that the finding of a good grade of oil in the Bebee well proves there is a pool ready to be, or has already been tapped.

Suppose, for instance, that a big field is developed near Maxwell. The result this will have on Ada will depend, to a great extent, upon the activity we show in getting new industries in here and the conditions of the roads to the fields. Maxwell is closer to Asher, Byars or Stratford than it is to Ada. With a good highway from either of these three towns much of the machinery and other equipment would go out from these places. While we want to see everyone of these towns grow and we wish them the best of luck, at the same time every citizen of Ada would prefer to see Ada the pivotal city of the oil development of this entire section of the country.

The road to Maxwell is now in fair condition, though some places can be made better. The county commissioners and the Good Road Motor Club are working and will continue to work on the road until it is in good condition, we understand. But we should be prepared, and in case the Transcontinental well comes in a producer, we should make the Maxwell road the best in the county within a fortnight.

More than that, the citizens of Ada should give absolute co-operation in the way of supplying the needs of the oil fraternity. Of course, there are already machine shops, hotels and such essentials, but we should be ever alert regarding refineries, supply houses, and a hundred and one other things needed in an oil territory.

We realize that the Chamber of Commerce is keeping up with all these things, but it would not be out of place to call the attention of the public to the advisability of extending the Rock Island line from Asher into Ada. With a field at Maxwell, it might be that the Rock Island would desire to extend its line to Maxwell and stop, thereby taking most of the material by way of Shawnee and leaving Ada high and dry. We should be on the alert and see that in case the line is extended, it reaches Ada.

The News simply calls attention to these things. They may not mean much and again they may determine the ultimate size of Ada.

The Fourth Estate / The Press

Comments given below do not of necessity reflect the opinion of the News. In fact, oftentimes the opinion expressed is directly opposite to that held by the News. The opinions are given, however, because this is a newspaper.

"Steadying" the Market.

Muskogee Phoenix: While lobbyists at Washington and at every state capital where legislation to put an end to speculative manipulation of the prices of food products were busy telling legislators how invaluable this dealing in futures is, how it "steadies" the market, the daily news reports were furnishing some interesting commentaries on this hoary fraud of an argument. Here are some sentences from the report dated May 31:

May wheat departed this life with a glorious bunch of fireworks as a finale for the most spectacular grain option ever known. Starting at $2.75 it hovered around that mark last July and then crashed down toward the $2 mark only to bob up times innumerable. But the trend was steadily downward until the low of $1.19 1-2 was reached less than a month back, then a rise of 67 cents a bushel was staged and today the bears were beaten and buffeted in merciless style.

And here in the introduction to the report for next day, June 1:

What happened in the grain market today paled into insignificance the scotching of shorts in May wheat on Tuesday. For today it was the entire grain list that was scoring a sensational advance rather than the squeezing of a few scattered shorts in insignificant amounts, which is what happened yesterday. July wheat closed at an advance of 8 1-2 cents, rye futures were up 7 cents, corn gained 2 cents, oats 1 3-8 to 1 1-2 cents and even barley was 1 5-8 cents above Tuesday's close.

These statements need no comment at all. Do they not show a glorious "steadying" process? The farmers who happened to be obligated to sell at one date rather than another must just take his medicine. It is the bulls and bears, the straight gamblers for whose benefit the system is maintained. Let that fact stand out. Any legitimate industry can always protect itself by actual purchases for actual future delivery. But all the rest of this market manipulation, conducted by the gambling hells known as exchanges, ought to be made illegal and forever prohibited. The "steadying the market" argument on the other side is occasionally the result of honest misapprehension, but it is oftener just plain lying, to save the gamblers privilege and opportunity.

"Bad Niggers!"

Tulsa World: There are those of the colored race who boast of being "bad niggers." These it was, seizing the merest semblance of an excuse, who armed themselves and invading the business district of the city defiantly sought to take the law into their hands. If possible harmony between the races is to be restored in Tulsa these "bad niggers" must be controlled by their own kind.

The innocent, hard-working colored element of Tulsa faces both a danger and an unescapable duty if the work of those who seek to restore and tranquilize is to accomplish anything. They must co-operate fully and with vast enthusiasm with the officers of the city and county in ridding the community of the worthless, boasting, criminal "bad nigger."

While the very work of mercy and regeneration is going on, while the community is exerting itself to heal the wounds and assuage the suffering, these loose-mouthed impudent men are indulging in talk that can but start anew the holocaust. The World has taken on itself substantial unpleasantness in the pursuit of decency and right action. But it will not be put in the position of condoning this class of colored people or upraiding those who justly resent their impudence.

The time is here for the colored citizens of the city, who work for their living and render a substantial service to the community, to band themselves together for their own protection against this element of non-working, worthless negroes. They are better known to the colored people than they are to the whtie people. Let such colored leaders as Barney Cleaver be supported in their efforts to bring these culprits to justice instead of hiding and protecting them on mere race grounds.

It is this class that brought on the terrific suffering and loss, and it is this element that will bring more trouble. This is the situation that faces the colored people themselves if the work of restoring order, property and good feeling is to be a success.

Gubernatorial Politics.

Tulsa World: Already the politicians are grooming candidates for the gubernatorial handicap next year. Any number of democratic booms have been turned loose for the purpose of testing sentiment, the latest being N. A. Gibson of Muskogee. An able man, too; no question on that point; but close scrutiny and investigation may disclose something to make his candidacy unavailable.

The only avowed republican candidate, according to Harlow's Weekly, is George B. Schwabe of Nowata county, speaker of the house during the recent legislative fiasco. Such republican papers as have commented on this candidacy are none too kind. The following from the pen of J. W. Kyser, prominent republican and editor of the Chickasha Star, is typical:

"Mr. Schwabe, the speaker of the lower house of the legislature, is said to be nourishing a desire to run for governor. If Mr. Schwabe has developed any qualities of leadership that would fit him for the high office he seeks we have yet to discover it. The legislature under the leadership of Mr. Schwabe has taken four months to do what it ought to have done in six weeks. The republican party, if to win two years from now, will in in spite of the record of the lower house of the legislature and not because of it. Mr. Schwabe is directly responsible for the failure of the lower house of the legislature to do its duty and live up to the expectations of the republicans of Oklahoma. Mr. Schwabe saw fit to place in the positions of responsibility school boys and a few disgruntled democrats totally ignoring the older men of the legislature and the men trained in legislative matters. Mr. Schwabe may talk of the economy of the legislature but it needn't have taken four months to have accomplished that economy. Mr. Schwabe's plan of economy could have been put before the people of the state in six weeks instead of 12 and then he and his party might have had a record to run upon."

Probably a bit too severe and possibly animated by some personal spleen. Kyser is the republican member of the state board of affairs which was given some unfavorable notice by the house. But truthful regarding the house membership's error in considering itself much wiser and greater than the oldest members of the party—older and abler.

In The Oil Fields

The Transcontinental well near Maxwell is underreaming at 1575 feet, according to the report of the drillers. It is said the log of this well follows rather closely that of the Carter-Lowry-LaSelle syndicate well near Bebee. It is expected, therefore, that the oil sand will be picked up about 1750 feet. With fair luck in drilling, this depth ought to be reached within the next week or ten days. This hole is on the Ed Cotton farm, just north of Maxwell.

Sam Jordan, the big good natured contractor on the Maxwell well, was in Byars soon after the bank was robbed Wednesday. He insists he did not get excited.

Several geologists with more than local reputations have been devoting some time to the northwest field recently. All of these make flattering reports on the structure, and most of the reports are similar.

Four wells in the Steedman field are on the pump and the oil is being shipped. One new derrick is up southeast of the townsite, and two other new locations have been made.

M. K. Read, consulting geologist of Muskogee and one of the best known oil geologists in the Southwest, is spending some time in Pontotoc County studying the territory north and west of the city. He says he has been over much of northwest quarter of Pontotoc and believes that a good field is to be developed. He refused to discuss any particular territory. He says, however, he believes in the territory in general so strong that he is planning to come in here and spend considerable time.

POLICE KILL AN OKLAHOMA CITIZEN

(By the Associated Press)

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 9.—Thomas Kelly, forty-eight years old, of Oklahoma, was killed by the police here this morning after a two-hour battle in which machine guns and hand grenades were used to dislodge him from a room in the attic of a boarding house.

Before they killed him Kelly shot and killed Patrolman Dowell and Moss Rueger, who had been called to the house to subdue him after he had refused to pay a board bill to Mrs. Key and her son, Allen, who conduct the house.

The roof was shot partly away by machine gun fire, and hundreds of shots were exchanged between the officers and the solitary gunman before he was finally killed.

Two machine guns and a high pressure hose were used in an effort to cave in the walls. Sulphur and other chemicals were dropped into the attic through a skylight in an effort to smoke out the fugitive.

TOLEDO, June 9.—Police who descended into the attic after cessation of machine gun firing found Kelley's body lying on a bed, his heart pierced by a shot. He had in one pocket a 45 caliber pistol and in another a smaller gun. Patrolman Moss Breuger's pistol lay empty by his side, and there is evidence of a struggle between the policeman and the man. The policeman is said to have backed away from Kelly's fire. Thousands saw the battle between the police and the barricaded man, who kept up an intermittent fire from the attic window.

Kelly is reported to have had a trunk of ammunition. Persons in the neighborhood said that Kelly had purchased arms instead of food on frequent occasions and talked of starting a war.

Kelly was a waiter. The police have been unable to determine from what part of Oklahoma he came.

More than a thousand pounds of equipment is to be used tonight by Dr. Jones, to prove and illustrate his remarks. Those who have heard him before state that no knowledge of science is needed to get the benefit of the address. An admission of 50 cents will be charged to those who are not Normal students. The lecture will begin at 8:15 and will be held in the Normal auditorium. The Ada Lions club is invited to attend as guests of the Normal school.

Formal Signing of Treaty With Mexico Impossible at Present

(By the Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—Formal signing of the treaty between Mexico and the U. S. as a condition to recognition of the Obregon administration by the government at Washington is impossible, said a statement issued at the president's office today.

ARLING BABY
BRIGHTENS HOME
hildren's Laughter a Pleasing Sound

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. We had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nineteen days is all they have lived. Before my next one was born I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old, and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says 'That is a very healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show these few lines to anybody."—Mrs. C. W. Benz, 131 3rd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. Janssen's experience of interest to childless wives.

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful edicine. We are fond of children, and for a considerable time after we re married I feared I would not have any. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkm's Vegetable Compound, and it strengthened me so I now have a nice, ong, healthy baby girl. I suffered very little at childbirth, and I give all e credit to your medicine, and shall always recommend it highly."—Mrs. H. Janssen, Millston, Wis.

rs. Held of Marinette, Wis., adds her testimonial for Lydia E. inkham's Vegetable Compound. She says:

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a nervous condition and very irregular. My ctor advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets d asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It overcame weakness so that I now have a healthy baby girl after having been marnine years. I am glad to recommend your medicine, and you may use my ter as a testimonial."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

There are many, many such homes that were once childless, and are now ssed with healthy, happy children because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable mpound has restored the mother to a strong and healthy condition, as it ts as a natural restorative for ailments as indicated by backache, irregurities, displacements, weakness and nervousness.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacents or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's getable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative. It can be taken th perfect safety and often prevents serious troubles.

Therefore if you know of any woman who is suffering and has been unable secure relief and is regretfully looking forward to a childless old age, ask to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has brought health d happiness into so many homes once darkened by illness and despair.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments culiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. is book contains valuable information.

Wanting Is What?

Wanting is—what?
Summer redundant.
Blueness abundant.
—Where is the blot?
Beamy the world, yet a blank all the same
—Framework which waits for a picture to frame:
What of the leafage, what of the flower?
Roses embowering with naught embower!
Come then, complete incompletion, o, comer,
Pant through the blueness, perfect the summer!
Breathe but one breath
Rose-beauty above,
And all that was death
Grows life, grows love,
Grows love!

Faith Increases in the Carter-Nance LaSelle Oil Well

Reports from the Carter-Nance-Laselle well in section 32, township 5, range 5, located 12 miles northwest of Ada indicates that the drillers have passed through the gas sand which was struck yesterday at 1,530 feet and are now drilling in blue shale with the expectation of reaching a producing sand at every tap of the drill.

It is said that while the sand encountered yesterday did not produce sufficient gas to justify a test, the owners of the well are not discouraged, but their faith in the well has increased by the conditions which prevail.

The strata of very hard blue lime, through which the drill passed before reaching the sand is considered a good indication by persons who have made a careful study of oil fields. Such a structure has been found over most of the big producing sands which have added to the wealth of oil men throughout the world.

It is reported that the well will be drilled to a depth of at east 2000 feet, unless pay sand is found short of that depth. Oil men every where will watch development at the Carter-Nance-Laselle well, with a great dea of interest during the next two weeks.

THE CRUCIAL HOUR IN ADA'S HISTORY.

There yet remains in this city quite a number of people who came here when dirt was first broken in the construction of Ada's business and residential districts.

The pioneers who have fought the fight all the way to here and now know the hopes and aspirations that prompted them in those early days, and are familiar with every step that was taken to carve a modern little city out of the raw material available here a little more than twenty years ago.

Any one of them will tell you that Ada never had a boom nor a depression of any consequence. The growth has been steady and normal, and we have had nothing to nourish us save a fertile domain and a few really industrious and propressive people.

Endowed with only ordinary resources the development thus far has been phenominal to say the least. But with this question we must be just as frank with reference to the bad as we are with reference to the good, and we must admit for two years, at least, things have been bad with us, as they have been bad with nearly all cities and communities in this nation.

Last year we were handicapped with abnormal inflation, while this year we are handicapped with abnormal deflation, and as a consequence no one knew what to do or how to move up to this time.

That Ada has reached a crucial hour in her history at this very day and date no one will deny. The explosion has taken place, all the damage that could be done has already been wrought, the smoke has cleared away and here we stand looking two ways with both roads open.

Like an individual, a community, a town, a city, cannot stand still. It must either go forward or backward—it must either progress or retrograde. With both roads open Ada is beckoned to from both ends. She is halting, as if meditating which way to go. The road forward and ahead holds untold possibilities. The road backward offers but a medicore existence and nothing whatever of tangible value or permanent reward.

There is no question which route is the right one to take, but to take the route ahead requires sacrifice, energy, industry, toil and devotion to duty. To backtrack and be content with things as they are requires nothing but to fold our hands and drift with the tide. There is no work attached, there are no breakers ahead, and there's no misery, save the self consciousness of a life mispent. But what awful misery that must be.

Frankly, it's Ada's move right now. We are going to be caught in one tide or the other. We can't long linger in eddy waters. With a little effort we can push our craft out into the stream, stem the tide and make the port of success on schedule time. It's easy to do, but if we hesitate we are lost.

Let every citizen of Ada ponder this question long and ponder it well. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by taking hold of the old civic ship and steering her up stream to greater and nobler things. Let's build here a city of which our children will be proud. Let's build here a citizenship which the Master on high shall rejoice to honor.

It can be done—it must be done!

Resolve that YOU will help do it!

A peculiar custom of the Hindoos during their Huli festival consists in the sending of persons away with messages to dead individuals, or persons known to be from home, and enjoying the laugh at their disappointment.

As a result of the bursting of a high pressure water main in Montreal recently, two boys were drowned, several families were rendered homeless and twenty-eight persons were taken to the hospital.

A novel warning sign has been erected at a railroad crossing in San Antonio consisting of a platform eight feet above the ground, upon which is placed a wrecked automobile which figured in a fatal accident of that road some time ago and which resulted in the death of two occupants of the car. A sign under the platform bears the words, "Did the Driver of This Stop, Look, Listen?"

No wonder Ardmore has a headache.

Wanted! 200 Men.

Next Sunday morning at 9:30 the Business Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Sunday school want two hundred men at the McSwain theatre.

This is an innovation in Ada, but is being done all over the country. Large bodies of men of all faiths and no faiths are meeting in the picture show house and studying God's word.

Mr. McSwain has very courteously and very generously offered us his theatre for that purpose, and we are very anxious to have a large number there on this first Sunday.

We want to urge you to come regardless of your religious belief, unless you are already attending Sunday school somewhere else.

We have one of the best teachers in the country in the person of Mr. L. A. Ellison. He will interest you.

Remember the hour 9:30 Sunday morning at McSwain theatre.

Charlie A. Algeo Was Buried Yesterday at Rosedale Cemetery

Mrs. Charlie A. Algeo, accompanied by a sister, Mrs. H. Boyd of Okmulgee, and an aunt, Mrs. Frank Morrow of Wellington, Kans., arrived on the Santa Fe shortly before noon yesterday, with the body of her husband, who was killed in an automobile wreck near Wichita, Kans., December 20.

The funeral party was met at the station by a large crowd of persons who had become attached to the Algeo family during their three years residence in this city. The body was taken directly to the Rosedale cemetery where a brief prayer service was conducted by Dr. N. P. Patterson, before it was lowered to its last resting place beside the body of an infant son, who preceded the father in death.

The following gentlemen acted as honorary pallbearers from the station to the cemetery: J. R. Couch, Joe Cole, John Chancey, Sam Scheinberg and Paul Alderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Algeo and their splendid family lived in Ada three years and moved from this city three years ago to Wichita, Kans., where they lived until Mr. Algeo was killed last December. Mr. Algeo was a drilling contractor and had charge of the drilling of several of the first oil and gas wells drilled in this county. He followed his profession with great success in the oil fields near Wichita.

Mrs. Algeo will return to her home in Wichita, where the three children are attending school. She has not decided whether she will return to a home which is owned by the family in this city, or will continue to make her home in Wichita.

GO TO THEATRE

Henry Always Makes Good.

Like old wine, Henry Roquemore's Musical comedy improves with age.

Mr. Rocquemore has been coming to Ada for the past three years, and each time he plays here his company is better, this week he is giving the McSwain patrons something extraordinary in new musical comedy plays, original, classy and full of pep, with his big added attractions thrown in for good measure, among the most important features being Fred Faunt LeRoy, the boy with a dozen talents, Brandow and Smith society dancers, and his irresistible, adorable chorus of young, pretty and nimble girls who wear rare creations in late modeled costumery.

To play a show of this caliber must be a pleasure to the theatre management and from the large audiences who witness the different shows it must be an unusual pleasure to Mr. Rocquemore, for he can truthfully say, "Business is good."

Summing it up, Henry Rocquemore has a first class organization, with first class talent, presenting first class shows in first class style, and a visit to the McSwain any time this week will be well worth your while.

At the McSwain.

Do you like great motion pictures that not only profoundly stir the emotions, but are also produced with a lavish eye for beauty and elegance?

Then come to the McSwain theatre next Tuesday or Wednesday, when we will show George Fitzmaurice's "Idols of Clay."

The master-producer, whose "On With the Dance" and "The Right to Love" have been sensational successes, has fairly excelled himself in "Idols of Clay."

The thrilling romantic story, written by Ouida Bergere, takes you to a languorous isle in the South Sea then to the dizzy heights of London bohemian society and at last to a den in the picturesque Limehouse underworld, where true love finds a way out to happiness.

Mae Murray and David Powell are again the featured players. It's a Paramount picture. Come!

Latta Consolidated School.

Here we come again after an absence of a few weeks.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. The literature has come and all the classes are well organized. There are five classes. Forty-eight were present last Sunday, but the Bible class is quite small. The young folks show more interest than the older people. Every one is urged to come out next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

There was, also, preaching Sunday morning by Rev. Davis.

The eighth and ninth grades will give a three act comedy Friday night April 8th. The title is "The Freshmen" and the time taken to put it on is two and one-half hours. This play will excel anything we have had this year. Everyone is asked to come out.

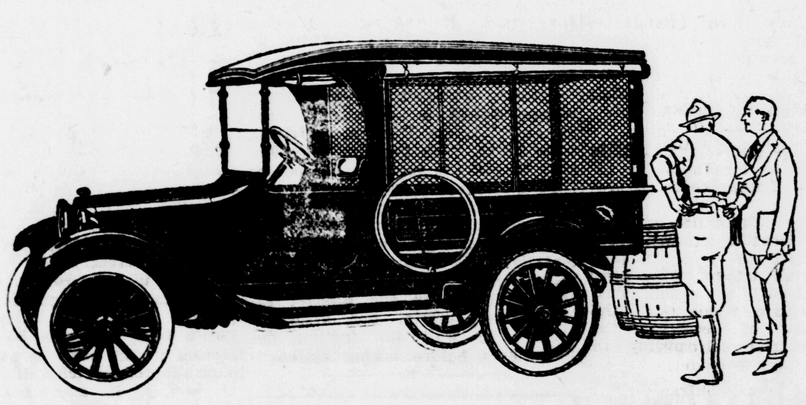

DRUMRIGHT—The local troop of Boy Scouts will attend the two-day outing at Chandler for scouts of the state, April 29 and 30.

The Woman Who Has Found the Secret of Youth Has Found the Secret of Beauty; Your Figure Tells Your Age.

Various things contribute to the appearance of age, but nothing accentuates it half so much as a badly corseted figure. This simple statement of this truth needs no emphasis; the figure tells a story that is apparent to all.

Your corset should become your first consideration.

If you desire a corset that will fit you perfectly—give you utmost freedom—unhampered grace and correct style, we urge you to have a trial fitting of the MODART Corset. A trial fitting is far more convincing than the highest possible recommendation, for in no other way can you truly appreciate its style and comfort.

Meeting To Be Held on Lawn

At the monthly business meeting of the congregation of the First Baptist church held at the church Wednesday evening, it was unanimously voted to hold the coming revival meeting out on the lawn of the church between the parsonage and the church building.

At the services next Sunday a call will be made for volunteer help to put up the platform and seats and it is thought that there will be no trouble to get a number of men to give one half day next week to the work.

This arrangement has been hailed with delight by all the congregation and by others, as it will be much cooler and otherwise more comfortable, and will mean that a larger crowd can be accommodated. The membership of the church anticipate a great meeting.

Typhoid fever was spread in South Carolina by undisciplined workmen and camp followers of the army in 1918. Since then the State authorities have reduced the disease 40 to 58 per cent in certain counties by mere sanitary education, says the U. S. Public Health Service. If there, why not elsewhere?

CHICAGO BOY SCOUTS GET TRIP TO YELLOWSTONE

(By the Associated Press)

CLINTON, Ia., June 9.—Two hundred boy scouts of this city are preparing for the time of their young lives as they will leave here on June 22nd, bound for the wilds of Yellowstone Park.

The trip is unique in the annals of youthful entertainment. It is being conducted by fifty business and professional men of this city who will be hosts to the youngsters.

Nothing so prosaic as Pullman sleepers will be used and hotels will be decidedly tabooed. The boys and their hosts, together with a 25 piece band will travel in five automobiles while their sleeping equipment, commissary and such, will follow closely in five huge trucks.

Camps will be made each night en route, the entire party tenting in the open. The personnel of the hosts will include doctors, nurses, a moving picture outfit and wireless equipment.

The trip will consume more than a month of travel, starting on June 20 and ending July 26.

Binders Going

(By the Associated Press)

DURANT, June 9.—Oats and wheat are falling under the reaper's modernized scythe here this week, with binders running all the day and sometimes into the night.

Help seems plentiful, and early threshing in some districts probably will be completed this week, threshermen say.

The wheat yield here is estimated at between 8 and 10 bushels to the acre, but oats are light, thirty bushels being considered good this year.

OPTOMETRY

The defects of the eyes which have just been described are termed errors of refraction. The science of determining and correcting such refractive errors is called Optometry, a new profession, recognized by the laws of practically all states of the Union. Those qualified to practice Optometry are known as Optometrists.

Optometrists receive special training in the structure of the eye, in the detection of errors of refraction and in the calculation of the formulae for lenses to correct such errors. Only after they have satisfactorily completed such training are they authorized by law to practice Optometry. In making their examinations, Optometrists put no drugs or "drops" into the eyes but examine them under normal conditions.

GOVERNMENT HAS RECEIVED NO BIDS FOR TRANSPORT

(By the Associated Press)

MANILA, P. I., April 15.—(Delayed)—The veteran army transport Crook, which was offered for sale by the quartermaster of the Philippine department of the United States army, is still on the market, no bids having been received for the craft in response to advertisements. The reason assigned for lack of bids is a surplus of ocean tonnage for the freight now offering.

The Crook was formerly a British ship, having been built in Scotland in 1882. She was known as the Roumania until purchased by the United state at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. Her gross tonnage is 4,126.

It is also planned to sell the transport Warren which operates regularly between Manila and China ports. The Warren was once the German ship Scandia of the Hamburg-American line. She was built in 1889 and purchased at the breaking out of the Spanish war, in 1898.

Wheat Averages Twelve Bushels

(By the Associated Press)

PONCA CITY, June 9.—Reapers and harvesters are singing the song of the harvester in this and Osage county now, and the entire cutting of wheat probably will be completed before June 15 at the latest, farmers here say.

The average yield is reported here at 10 to 12 bushels to the acre, the wheat having a full, well rounded berry. Rains the latter part of May are believed by many of the farmers to have increased the crop fifteen per cent, through swelling and rounding of the berry.

FREDERICK — Tillman county's wheat crop, now being harvested, will be on the market as soon as threshers can make it possible, according to the county farm agent. No holding movement is expected this year on account of financial conditions, he added.

Investigation Ordered for All Forces Dealing With Ex-Service Men

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Investigation of all government agencies dealing with former service men was ordered by the Senate today in adopting a resolution by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, creating a selective committee to conduct the inquiry in the war agencies.

Investigation of the recent speech in London by Rear Admiral Sims, touching on the Irish sympathizers in the United States was ordered by the Senate without a record vote, in a resolution offered by Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi.

A light debate marked the consideration of the resolution which designated the senate naval committee as the investigating agency.

Answering an inquiry, whether the formal inquiries sent to Admiral Sims yesterday by Secretary Denby would suffice, he said:

"I think the charges against Admiral Sims in this case are so grave that the senate cannot afford to ignore them."

CATCHING SHARKS IS A NEW INDUSTRY

(By the Associated Press)

VICTORIA, June 9.—With the supply of raw material unlimited, an industry new to this country is flourishing at Parker Island, between Galiano and Mayne Islands on the Gulf of Georgia. It is the business of catching sharks, and a week's catch at the beginning of May ran to eighty, with an average weight of over a ton each. Mr. Nelson MacDonald of this city, who operated the first shark-catching machinery on the island, declares there will never be a shortage as there are millions in the waters surrounding the island. "In fact the further north you go the more sharks you will find and from here to Alaska are their feeding grounds" Mr. MacDonald said. "Taking them from the bottom of the sea is automatic. Norway has a hundred of such industries. The only real hook for catching them, which works on a swivel, comes from there and the so-called cod-liver oil, which invades the markets of the world, is really shark liver oil, manufactured in Norway."

Nothing is wasted in a shark plant. There is no finer fish-meat than that made from the bodies of the sharks. As a fertilizer it is superior to dog fish. The head of the shark is full of glue of a highly valuable quality and the fins are a much prized Chinese food delicacy, Orientals here paying as much as $3 a pound for it. The liver content runs for 60 to 70 per cent of finest oil of which about 10 per cent is glycerine. Shark's teeth are in demand in many parts of the world and fetch a high price for the manufacture of ornaments. What bones there are, and they are few, go into the fertilizer part of the industry.

The greatest interest in this new industry is being manifested in the manufacture of hides. Several American companies have been formed and much research work is being done at present. The shark hides run from an inch in thickness to the consistency of paper in the baby shark. In Seattle they are manufacturing hip-boots from shark hides and they are declared to be completely waterproof.

HUGO—A water power project to be one of the largest in the southwest is plannend in the Kiamichi mountains north of here, following a meeting of representatives of Fort Worth, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, McAlester, Hugo, Muskogee and Durant. The project will feed water to a radius of 150 miles, according to estimates.

DAIRYING FILLS TILLS OF FARMERS WITH MILLIONS OF DOLLARS YEARLY

MILKING TIME

A FAIR DEMONSTRATION

OTTAWA, ONT.—If all the dairymen of Canada were segregated into a community of their own, they would form a city larger than any in Western Canada. They numbered 275,060 in 1919, according to the government's final figures on the dairy industry for that year.

These farmers delivered at creameries 2,821,149,557 pounds of milk and 71,351,336 pounds of cream. For this, they received $107,412,542, which was $24,000,000 more than they had received for dairy products the year before.

The production of creamery butter for the year was 103,890,707 pounds, valued at $56,371,985, as compared with 93,298,348 pounds valued at $41,859,156 the previous year. The value of cheese produced in 1919 was $44,586,168, as compared with $39,456,632 in 1918. The average price of butter was 54 cents as compared with 45 cents. The number of employes in the dairy industry was 10,716 and wages amounted to $7,629,997. The amount of money invested in creameries and cheese factories was $56,776,062.

The growth of dairying in Western Canada in recent years has been phenomenal. The West in range days was a beef cattle producer and later a bonanza wheat country. Settlers who have gone upon small farms have accounted for the development of the dairy industry. The tendency of the entire West now is toward diversified farming. Establishment of good creameries throughout the western provinces has been greatly aided by financial advances from the government.

Mr. Matthews Learns of Damage to Cement Mills in Colorado

In a letter to M. O. Matthews, manager of the Oklahoma Portland Cement company of this place, C. Boettcher of the Cement Securities Company of Denver, tells of the damage done to sections of Colorado and particularly to the mill of the Colorado Portland Cement Co. This mill, Mr. Matthews explains, is several miles west of Pueblo but is near the Arkansas river. This mill is owned by the same interests as the Ada mill. The letter:

"You no doubt have noticed by the papers, that we have had a terrible flood here in Colorado, even worse than the papers mention, and Pueblo, a town of 50,000 or more people, is virtually wiped off the map, as the water there was ten feet deep in the Union station and we are informed through the papers that people were drowned in the passenger coaches standing in the station yards.

"We have had a pretty hard time of it, ourselves, at our cement plant west of Pueblo, where the water has been 5 feet all over the factory. We do not know just what damage we will have, but, of course the plant is out of commission, the 'phones are all down, and we are not able to get any information direct, but only through the newspapers. We have been trying to get in communication with the plant today, but so far have not been able to do so.

"I am mailing you a copy of our afternoon's newspaper, so that you may have some idea of what Pueblo and surrounding country is suffering."

HASKELL POWER BEHIND THRONE?

Lorton of Tulsa World Says So, Following an Interview.

Former Governor Charles N. Haskell is the power behind the throne in the dictation of Oklahoma republican appointments according to Eugene Lorton of the Tulsa World, who sent his paper the following dispatch from New York just prior to setting sail for Europe:

There has naturally been a great deal of speculation among Oklahomans of every political faith as to just how and why the present national administration came to so signally and apparently designedly ignore and repudiate the republican state organization headed by National Committeeman James A. Harris and Senator J. W. Harreld. The real truth in these matters is never apparent on the surface nor fully revealed by what those in authority say in explanation of their actions.

President Harding gave it out that the appointments so far made were harmony appointments. Mr. Daugherty, speaking for the president, more fully confirmed this, but hardly had the wire ceased carrying the news to Oklahoma until repudiation and explanations were being offered. A statement from the white house said the president had made no personal appointments in Oklahoma. Senator Harreld declared that the program of appointments had been forced on him by Mr. Daugherty supposedly at the behest of the president. And there the matter rests.

But the thing that the public is interested in is how did it all come about anyway? What were the influences that prevented the Washington administration from according the Oklahoma republican organization the same kind of treatment the party organization in other republican states is accorded? And thereby hangs a tale. It may not reveal all the hidden influences, but it points the finger of conviction to the big influence.

Haskell the Man

And that influence beyond the question of a doubt was the redoubtable Charles N. Haskell, first governor of the state of Oklahoma and at one time prominent democratic leader in the state. This influence of the democratic ex-governor has been hinted before, but I have confirmed it to my own satisfaction at least.

It was for the purpose of satisfying my own mind on certain points that I made an appointment to see Governor Haskell at his sumptuous apartments in this city, where he now resides and is reputed to be several times a millionaire, being one of the most successful stock market operators that has ever gone up against both the bulls and the bears and also the wolves. He has cleaned up on all of them and is said to have safely soaked away a big roll in surety bonds and other non-fluctuating securities where none of the porch climbers down on Wall street can get it.

But it is not the object of this article to deal with the personal affairs of the "governor," nor to engage in any discussion of his political record beyond its immediate relation to the republican situation in Oklahoma. I had heard that Governor Haskell was very close to Attorney General Daugherty ,that they put the "sign of the cross" on Republican National Committeeman James A. Harris.

I knew of no better way to find out the truth of these reports than to frankly state them to the governor and permit him to do the rest. When asked if he had written such a letter to Daugherty he evaded a direct answer by saying he had not seen "Harry" for over two years.

Former Governor Hates Harris

"But you did write him a letter about republican appointments in Oklahoma, did you not, governor? Would you mind showing me a copy of that letter and permit me to judge whether or not you actually put the finishing touches on Jim Harris, or not."

"Why certainly, I will be glad to show you a copy of the letter if I am able to go down to my office in the next day or so," was his very prompt reply.

"I do not mind saying that I do not like Jim Harris and never have liked him." And then with eyes half closed he leaned back in his comfortable chair and began to talk about Oklahoma politicians, republican as well as democratic, and in those little narratives, dating back in some instances for 15 or 20 years is revealed the part he has just played in putting the present republican administration in the attitude of having been influenced by him in making its appointments in Oklahoma.

But to the uninitiated the question suggests itself, how did he happen to pick up Jim Harris, and why did he have so much influence with Harry Daugherty? And it does not require two guesses to get the answer. George W. Strawn, the foreman of the grand jury that investigated and brought the indictments against Governor Haskell in the Muskogee town lot frauds, when Oklahoma was admitted as a state, was a brother-in-law of Jim Harris. Haskell may have forgiven others, for their part in that affair, but he never forgave Jim Harris.

And aside from that he had other reasons for not liking "Big Jim." Haskell and Daugherty were associates together in business affairs in Ohio prior to Haskell's removal to Oklahoma. Daugherty was present at the trial of Haskell in Tulsa. What connection if any he had with the town lot matter, has never been explained, but he and Haskell were and are close friends. And so when opportunity presented itself Haskell put in the finishing touches that closed the door to the republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, and I verily believe has more influence with the powers that be in Washington today that any republican in the state.

Powerful Through Daugherty.

I think this so strongly that I would rather have his influence back of me if I wanted anything with this administration in a political way than that of any other individual. He may not use it in a personal way but he knows how to get the things done that he wants done. He has the "en tre" and the "quene sabe," and he knows Oklahoma politics backwards, upside, downside, inside, outside. So what more is necessary? Nothing that I can think of.

The governor did not care to talk about Jim Harris except to explain and laugh about how he used to play round him with republican members of the legislature.

But he was loquacious about other republicans. He did not approve Jake Hamon's morals, but he was always very friendly with him. He appointed Jake as the first republican member of the state election board and refused to remove him when the Gore-Hamon bribery incident occurred during Gore's first term in the senate, because he said Jake and Gore had been playing politics together for years and the bribery charge would never have been sprung if there had not been a campaign on.

His Republican Friends.

The governor said he had been a friend of Jim McGraw's for many years. He had always been a friend of Bert Chandler's. Also Victor Locke. Chandler was appointed by the governor as the republican member of the board of affairs after statehood. He appointed Locke captain of a militia company and refused to remove him when charges were preferred against him. He said he thought Henry Asp ought to be appointed United States attorney for the western district of Oklahoma.

So it is not difficult to figure out who it was that helped figure out the original Daugherty slate for Oklahoma appointments which caused such a stir and which was only broken up by the commotion which it created. Experienced Oklahoma observers can see and understand where it all came from and why the Hamon forces, what there is left of them, are so disappointed over the outcome, and why President Harding is insisting that he made no personal appointments in Oklahoma.

It has taken a long time for C. N. Haskell to even up the old score, but he has done a pretty neat job of it so far. He has had more influence with a republican administration than he could ever have had with a democratic administration. In fact he had rather lost out with the democrats. The old Haskell and anti-Haskell scrap has been shifted from the democratic to the republican party, and it is no wonder the governor closes his eyes and smiles when he talks about Oklahoma politics and politicians. He has a laugh coming.

What Will Oklahoma Think?

But what about the republicans who have been playing in Haskell's back yard all these years? and who are the beneficiaries of his present pull with the national administration? I can see some rather rough times ahead for some of them. And of course the whole history of the Haskell era will be more or less gone over again during the stirring times just ahead.

And what about the national administration and who is it that can find out and unravel the exact relations which existed between C. N. Haskell and Harry M. Daugherty that brought all this about. I am on my way for a few months in Europe but I imagine those Oklahoma politicians who are in the habit of digging into things and finding out what is back of every little movement will have a very busy summer ahead of them and there will be an aboundant harvest before we have heard the last of the present chapter in Oklahoma politics.

SIMS INSISTS HE IS NOT SORRY

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, June 9.—Rear Admiral Sims of the U. S. Navy was quoted by the press as saying this morning with reference to his speech on the Irish question here Tuesday:

"I stand by all I said, every word of it. I shan't repudiate a single word I said and I see no harm in it, even if Senator McCormick does."

Admiral Sims said this morning that he had not received the cablegram reported sent to him by Secretary of the Navy Denby, inquiring if he had been correctly quoted by the press reports. He has arranged to have the cablegram sent to him as soon as it reaches London.

Admiral Sims was given a prominent place in the London newspapers, but there has been a noticeable absence of editorial comment.
